Extra feature checklist

1. ## shopping cart

   Every time when you add an item into the cart, one order of the item is created automatically, and when you post the checkout form, the orders form a package whose status can be checked at my account.

   An order can be deleted by the button, also you can choose to add or delete items in the cart. There may be some delay when you try to add, please give more time for the cart.

   The price of the orders will be calculated automatically.
   The orders are shown in chronological order.

2. ## product detail page

   Instead of just showing the items on the home page, every item has its detail page, on the page you can see the description of the item, also you can add it to the cart on the detail page.

   The categories of the products are also shown on the detail page. You can choose items from a certain category by click on the category name.

   Also, you can add the items in the cart without look at the detail page with just click on the cart symbol shown on the items.

3. ## Related products recommend

   There is also a related items list shown on the side bar on the detail page. The items are from the same category of the item you choose (means you are at the detail page of the item).

4. ## Anonymous user

   You can by the products you want without register and login, the user will be created automatically according to the username and email you use on the checkout page. However, as it is not secure, you cannot check the package status on my account page. But the info about the package can be seen on the terminal.

5. ## product category detail page

   On home page and product detail page, you can choose the category name to just have the list of a certain category.

6. ## Edit user profile

Every user will have a default profile for him or her. The information on profile page can be changed after login.

7. User friendly UI

Error handling of the checkout, login and register page.
Messages can be seen on the top of the page.
